WELCOME TO THE NATCHEZ TRACE

You've made a great choice, taking the Natchez Trace. Stretching 444 miles from Natchez, Mississippi to Nashville, Tennessee, the Trace can take you places you'll never forget. From Native American burial mounds to antebellum mansions, placid lakes to Civil War battle sites, nature trails to urban cityscapes, this All-American Road & National Scenic Byway takes you deep into the heart of an extraordinary American experience.

So take your time—there's lots to take in: beautiful scenery, exciting history, recreational adventures and cultural attractions. All this and more on a road ready to take you away.

Scenic Natchez Trace Parkway

History at every turn.

When you take the Natchez Trace, you're following some pretty big footsteps. The Trace doesn't just take you back in history, it takes you all the way back to pre-history when mastodons and giant bison carved the original path. On their heels came the first hunters, who in turn gave rise to the Chickasaw, the Natchez, the Choctaw and numerous other tribes. Then the conquistadors arrived, and following them came the trappers and the "Kaintuck" boatmen, who floated their goods down the Mississippi to sell all-lock, stock and flatboat in New Orleans, before tramping home on the Trace.

Buffalo River, Collinwood, TN

Mail carriers and highwaymen also galloped the road. Andrew Jackson sent his militia down it to the Battle of New Orleans. Thomas Jefferson designated the Natchez Trace as a postal road in 1801.

Battles, births and a beautiful idea:

With the coming of the steamboat in 1820, the Natchez Trace was suddenly quiet. Time, however, marched on. The Civil War was fought, some of its bloodiest and most decisive battles waged along the Trace. A kingdom of cotton rose and fell in Natchez and Vicksburg, and "Athens of the South" took root in Nashville. Later some of the most influential icons of American culture were born and lived here: from W. C. Handy to Elvis Presley, and Helen Keller to Eudora Welty.

In the early part of the 20th century, the Daughters of the American Revolution began a commemorative marker project, Ground was broken in 1937, and in 1938, the Trace Parkway was established as a unit of the National Park Service to commemorate the historic Natchez Trace. Preservation of history was only one element of this ambitious project; and today, its scope and success is evident. To earn the prestigious designation of All-American Road, a roadway must demonstrate significance in at least two of six categories—archeological, cultural, historic, natural, recreational and scenic. The Natchez Trace qualifies in all six.

The Natchez Trace takes you away with every curve, not just with history, but with every imaginable wonder.

Florence Bridge, AL

Port Gibson Cemetery, MS

which eventually ignited the interest of national lawmakers. Mississippi Congressman Jeff Busby introduced federal legislation to finance the construction of a modern road following the route known today as the Old Trace.

National Park Service Visitor Centers

Natchez Trace Parkway Visitor Center

The Natchez Trace Parkway is managed by the National Park Service (NPS).

Travelers along the Parkway have the opportunity to access both NPS and city-run information centers. The following locations are staffed by uniformed NPS rangers. Some visitor centers are seasonal; however, all offer restrooms, exhibits and information. For more information, please call the Parkway Visitor Center at 800.305.7417 or visit the park's website at www.nps.gov/natr. For emergencies, call 911.

Mount Locust ..... Mile Marker 15.5

Just north of Natchez, MS visitors may take a guided tour of Mt. Locust, the only surviving "stand" or inn, on the Natchez Trace. Mt. Locust opens daily 9:00AM-4:30PM.

Parkway Information Cabin ..... Mile Marker 102.4

Visitors may join a ranger-led program on local, natural or cultural history, and enjoy access to a multi-use trail in Ridgeland, MS. The Information Cabin is open 9:00AM-4:30PM.

Parkway Visitor Center & Headquarters ..... Mile Marker 266

This is the primary visitor center for the Natchez Trace Parkway located in Tupelo, MS. Visitors will find exhibits and a park orientation film. There is also the opportunity to get passport stamps. A bicycle-only campground is located near the Visitor Center. Visitor Center hours are 9:00AM-5:00PM Mon-Sat and NOON-4PM on Sun.

Meriwether Lewis ... Mile Marker 386

Here, in Hohenwald, TN, visitors can find a newly renovated center as well as new exhibits, walking trails, restrooms and campgrounds. Call 1.800.305.7417 to find out about hours during your trip.

Laws & Regulations

Speed Limit

The maximum speed limit on the Natchez Trace Parkway is 50 mph, but there are areas where the speed limit is reduced. The National Park Service heavily enforces the posted speed limits.

Traffic Control Signs & Devices

Watch the signs and obey the traffic lines on the roadway.

Current Documents

A valid driver's license is required as well as proof of up-to-date vehicle insurance on the vehicle you are driving.

Vehicles Must Be in Good Working Order

All lights must work, including trailer lights if pulling a trailer. The tag light must work on vehicles and trailers. No cracks are allowed on the windshield on the drivers' side.

Scenic Trace

License Plates

License Plates are not allowed to be covered by any covering that obscures the numbers and letters for a distance of 50 feet or greater. This includes frames that cover the stickers or the county name.

Littering

Trash cans are available at every parking area.

Alcohol

Visitors are allowed to possess and transport unopened containers of alcohol to their destination. Open containers are illegal and not allowed. A container is considered open if the seal on the bottle or can is broken, or if the beverage is in a cup. Even if the container is in the trunk or out of reach, the driver is in violation.

Firearms

People who can legally possess firearms under applicable federal and state laws may legally possess firearms in this park.

Trailers

Visitors are allowed to pull small trailers. Utility-type trailers must be enclosed or covered and are not to exceed 5'x8'. Only recreational equipment is allowed to be trailored. A vehicle may only tow one trailer and the total length cannot exceed 55 feet. Commercial or non-recreational items are not allowed. For example, lawn equipment, landscape items, furniture and house-hold items or hunting/camp equipment are considered commercial under these regulations. No farm equipment or tractors of any size are allowed.

NTP Wayside sign

Bicycles

Motorists are required to give a minimum of 3 feet between a car and bicycle when passing. Bicyclists shall obey traffic laws. Only single file riding is permitted. Bicyclists are required to have available working front and rear lights. Bicyclists are encouraged to wear high visibility colored clothing for safety.

Commercial Vehicles

Commercial vehicles are not allowed. Vehicles with company logos are considered commercial, even if the vehicle is a small car or small truck.

Special Use Permits

Organized activities, weddings, group tours or other activities may require a Special Use Permit. Contact the Natchez Trace Parkway at 800.305.7417 for more information.

If in Doubt

For more information, contact the Natchez Trace Parkway at 800.305.7417 or visit the park's website at www.nps.gov/natr.

Biking, Motorcycling & Camping

No wonder taking the Natchez Trace on two wheels—whether on bicycle or motorbike—is a popular activity. The view is terrific! However, while bicycling and motorcycling are great ways to get an up close experience of nature, they also pose dangers and challenges. Below are rules and suggestions that should make your travels along the Natchez Trace Parkway not only enjoyable, but safe:

- ☞ Wear a helmet and highly visible clothing.
- ☞ Ride defensively and be seen.
- ☞ Ride from sunrise to sunset. Plan to be off the road by dark.
- ☞ Observe all traffic regulation and laws.
- ☞ Always carry water.
- ☞ Carry a cell phone, ID and medical cards, as well as I.C.E. (In Case of Emergency) information.
- ☞ Let someone know your itinerary.
- ☞ In case of an emergency call 911.
- ☞ Bicyclists must ride in single file.
- ☞ Bicyclists should avoid Tupelo, MS and Jackson, MS areas during rush hour periods!
- ☞ Motorists are required to maintain a minimum of 3 feet between a car and a bicycle when passing.
- ☞ Call 1.800.305.7417 to receive a free bicycle information packet.

The National Park Service (NPS) provides three general and five bicycle campgrounds along the Natchez Trace Parkway to help make your visit more enjoyable.

Each general campsite has a picnic table, fireplace with grill, and a level tent site. Drinking water and comfort stations are provided in the general campgrounds. There are no showers, electrical hookups, hot water or dumping stations located at the NPS campgrounds. Outdoor water sources are usually shut off from November through mid-March. Water may be found at Parkway restrooms. Please follow these rules that have been established for your enjoyment and safety:

- ☞ No camp fees or reservations are required.
- ☞ Only camp and park in designated areas.
- ☞ Quiet hours are from 10PM to 6AM.
- ☞ No cutting plants, digging or leveling ground is allowed anywhere in the Park.
- ☞ Leave your campsite clean.
- ☞ Make fires in designated rings or grates, and use only downed wood.
- ☞ Pets must be on a leash.
- ☞ Fireworks are prohibited.
- ☞ People who can legally possess firearms under applicable federal and state laws may legally possess firearms in this park.
- ☞ Camping is limited to 14 days at any one campground and 30 days maximum for all Parkway campgrounds combined.
- ☞ There are no reservations, and campsites may not be held or reserved for others.
- ☞ Organized groups should make advanced arrangements by calling the Visitor Center at 662.680.4027 or 800.305.7417.

GENERAL CAMPGROUNDS

Meriwether Lewis ★ Mile Marker 385.9 (32 campsites)

Supplies and gas are available four miles west of the Parkway on TN Highway 20 toward Hohenwald, TN.

Jeff Busby ★ Mile Marker 193.1 (18 campsites)

The closest available location for food and supplies is at Mile marker 195.5 at the Ackerman, MS Exit.

Rocky Springs ★ Mile Marker 54.8 (22 campsites)

Supplies are available at Port Gibson or Utica, MS, both are about 15 miles away.

BICYCLE ONLY CAMPGROUNDS

Tennessee Hwy 50 ★ Mile Marker 408

Follow the signs to the TN Highway 50 trailhead of the Natchez Trace National Scenic Trail. The campsite is located near the horse staging area. Picnic tables, water, fire grate and garbage cans are available. The nearest restrooms are at the Gordon House and Ferry Site just south of TN Highway 50 at Mile Marker 407.7.

Colbert Ferry ★ Mile Marker 327.3

Parkway Visitor Center ★ Near Tupelo Mile Marker 266

Camping is available at an Outdoor Classroom facility west of the Tupelo Visitor Center. Turn west on the access road at the south end of the Visitor Center parking lot. Continue on this road to the small parking area/trailhead. The trailhead leading to the campsite is located north of the parking area. Fire grates, picnic tables, garbage cans, water and pit toilets are available.

Note: Visitor Center restrooms are open 8AM–5PM daily.

Witch Dance ★ Mile Marker 233.2

Tent camping is permitted in the picnic area and at the horse staging area to the west and south of the restrooms. No camping is allowed in the picnic loop. Restrooms, picnic tables, fire grates, garbage cans and water are available.

Kosciusko ★ Mile Marker 159.7

Turn west onto the road marked District Ranger Office located just south of the Kosciusko Information Center. A tent symbol and arrow direct you into the camping area. Picnic tables, water, tent pads, pit toilet and fire grate are available.

STRETCH YOUR LEGS ★ EXPAND YOUR HORIZONS

Wayside exhibits, interpretive signs and exhibit shelters are more than just a great excuse to stop, stretch and enjoy the view. They're also a great way learn and enjoy more of the historic, natural wonder that is the Natchez Trace. So look for the signs—there's always more to explore on the Parkway!

DAR and The Natchez Trace, MS

Mile Marker 0 ★ The Southern Terminus
Northward, ho! Your journey begins in Natchez, MS.

Mile Marker 10.3 ★ Emerald Mound
A true jewel. Built by the Natchez Indians around 1400 AD, this magnificent ceremonial mound is the second largest of its type in the nation, covering nearly eight acres, with a trail leading to the top.

Mile Marker 15.5 ★ Mt. Locust
Hospitality: frontier-style. Before 1820, as many as 50 stands like Mt. Locust were established to host weary, thirsty travelers. Mount Locust is the only one remaining. Stop and drink in the history.

Mile Marker 41.5 ★ The Sunken Trace
The Sunken Trace is one of the most photographed sites along the Parkway. The Trace appears sunken in this spot due to thousands of travelers walking on the easily eroded loess soil. This short trail will allow you to walk on the Natchez Trace just as thousands have before you.

Mile Marker 54.8 ★ Rocky Springs
Rocky Springs once was the point travelers said goodbye to “civilization” before they entered the “wilderness.” Although the town was decimated by yellow fever, today there is an old church still standing, along with hiking trails, campsites, a stream and an old cemetery to explore.

Mile Marker 102.4 ★ Parkway Information Cabin

Visit a park ranger to help plan your visit and access the Multiuse Trail.

Mile Marker 106.9 ★ Boyd Site

Here's a spot to dig deeper. Constructed during the late Woodland—early Mississippian period, from 800–1100 AD, Boyd Site is now home to one of 20 interpretive American Indian historic sites on the Parkway.

Mile Marker 122 ★ Cypress Swamp

A self-guided trail through a water tupelo/bald Cypress Swamp. A lucky visitor may see an alligator on this one half-mile trail with boardwalks.

Mile Marker 193.1 ★ Jeff Busby

When we say this is high point of your journey, we mean it, as this exhibit is located 603 feet above sea level at one of the highest points in Mississippi and the highest on the Parkway. At Jeff Busby, you'll also find a campsite and a hike up to a terrific view of the surrounding countryside.

Emerald Mound, MS

Mile Marker 232.4 ★ Bynum Mounds

Bynum Mounds is a Middle Woodland period mound site located at Mile Marker 232.4. This archeological site consisted of six mounds, five of which were excavated in the 1940s. Two of the largest mounds have been restored, and you can see them today.

Meriwether Lewis, TN

Mile Marker 261.8 ★ Chickasaw Village Site

Exhibits portray daily life and early history at the Chickasaw Village that once stood here.

Mile Marker 266 ★ The Natchez Trace Parkway Visitor Center

The Natchez Trace Parkway Visitor Center has an orientation film and interpretive displays, as well as an Eastern National Bookstore. A park ranger is available 8AM–5PM daily (Except Christmas Day). There is also an opportunity to get your passport stamps for the Natchez Trace Parkway, Natchez Trace National Scenic Trail, Tupelo National Battlefield and Brices Cross Roads National Battlefield.

Car on Trace, AL

Mile Marker 286.7 ★ Pharr Mounds

A truly awesome sight—and must-see site. A 90-acre complex of eight different burial mounds, built between 1,800 and 2,000 years ago during the Middle Woodland period, with four of the eight mounds excavated in 1966 by the National Park Service.

Mile Marker 327.3 ★ Colbert Ferry

Today a spectacular bridge takes you across the Tennessee River, but in the early 1800's, George Colbert operated a stand and ferry at this spot. Colbert Ferry is a great place to enjoy a picnic by the river, find restrooms or use the boat launch.

Mile Marker 330.2 ★ Rock Spring

Rock Spring offers a short half-mile loop that takes you past Colbert Creek and away from the traffic of the Parkway.

Mile Marker 357.8 ★ Old Trace Drive

Take a spin on a true antique: This is one of two locations along the Parkway where visitors may drive “on” the Old Natchez Trace. This drive is not suitable for travel trailers.

Mile Marker 385.9 ★ Meriwether Lewis

The famous explorer Lewis led a dramatic life and died a mysterious death right here. Visit his gravesite and do some exploring of your own at this 300-acre park. Also find campsites, a picnic area, self-guided walking trails and restrooms.

Mile Marker 391.9 ★ Fall Hallow Trail

If you are interested in waterfalls, you will want to take a short walk on the Fall Hallow Trail. A five-minute walk will take you to a viewing platform to see a small waterfall. Those interested in continuing on will be rewarded with numerous small cascades.

Bikers, TN

Mile Marker 401.4 ★ Tobacco Barn

You'll “leaf” this exhibit with a greater understanding of and appreciation for the crop that played a crucial role in America's agricultural and economic history. Be sure to see the exhibits at the farm and the barn.

Mile Marker 404.7 ★ Jackson Falls

A gorgeous view, and the hike to get there is a beaut, too: down and back up a 900 foot descent.

Painting in Leiper's Fork, TN

Mile Marker 407.7 ★ Gordon House Historic Site

Built in 1818, the Gordon House is one of only two surviving historic buildings on the Natchez Trace Parkway.

Mile Marker 423.9 ★ TN Valley Divide

When Tennessee joined the Union in 1796, this watershed was the boundary between the United States and the Chickasaw Nation.

Mile Marker 427.6 ★ Garrison Creek

Restrooms, horse and hiking trails and beautiful fall color highlight this section of the Natchez Trace.

Mile Marker 438 ★ Birdsong Hollow

The nation's first double arch bridge spans 1,648 feet and stands 155 feet tall.

Mile Marker 442 ★ Northern Terminus

Journey's end—now it's time to plan your return! Enjoy southern cooking at the diner that sits at the northern terminus.

ITINERARIES

Old Timers, Collinwood, TN

It took 67 years to construct the 444 miles of the Natchez Trace Parkway.

It took thousands of years to create the experience.

This is a story of America, and now you can explore it in ways too numerous to write.

With over 1,200 things to see and do, the Trace is the way to go. Attractions and special events guide you along the way with enjoyment and ease. The following are just a few ways you can see the Trace and cities along the route. The Natchez Trace Parkway has everything from American Indian and Civil War History to Cultural and Heritage, Outdoor Recreation and yes even Romance. Of course, if you want more tools to plan your adventure and see special events, visit www.scenictrace.com.

AMERICAN-INDIAN

From majestic mounds to authentic villages, the traditional homelands of the Natchez, Choctaw, Chickasaw and their ancestors, the Trace is abundant with American-Indian history, awaiting your exploration.

Pharr Mounds, Tishomingo County, MS

- Get a close-up view in Natchez at the Grand Village of the Natchez Indians. The site includes a mound area, a museum, a reconstructed Natchez Indian house, nature trails and a picnic pavillion.
- Emerald Mound (mile marker 10.3) was built and used by the Natchez and their ancestors between 1200 and 1730.
- See where Choctaw chief Pushmataha signed the Treaty of Doak's Stand with President Andrew Jackson, ceding 5.5 million acres of Choctaw land to the United States (sign at mile marker 128.4).
- Bynum Mounds are located 33 miles south of the Tupelo Visitor Center and Parkway Headquarters and are between 1,800 and 2,100 years old.

- Near Tupelo, the exhibits of the Chickasaw Village describe the tribe's history and daily life, with a nature trail featuring plants the tribe used.
- Pharr Mounds are made up of eight mounds on 90 acres near Tishomingo County.
- Bear Creek Mound (mile marker 308.8) built between 1200 and 1400 AD, is located about 20 miles north of Pharr Mounds. Florence Mound is the largest of its kind in the Tennessee Valley, located near the bank of the Tennessee River. A nearby museum features artifacts from the region dating back 10,000 years.

Grand Village, Natchez, MS

CIVIL WAR

Through the blaze of re-enactors' muskets, into history-rich towns, the Trace and communities along its path preserve some of the most exciting Civil War history in America.

Battlefield, Raymond, MS

- Travel the Trace and discover where Ulysses S. Grant began his march to destiny...where Nathan Bedford Forrest showed his brilliance...where the largest cavalry force ever amassed in the Western Hemisphere poised for invasion.
- Be a part of one of the longest running tourism events in the nation by attending the Natchez Spring Pilgrimage which includes the "Southern Road to Freedom" musical tribute.
- The preservation of the Raymond Battlefield site has been featured on the History Channel, and its Courthouse was used as a field hospital for Confederate troops.
- Port Gibson was declared "too beautiful to burn" by Grant. Reflect on this time at the Grand Gulf Military Monument Park.

Situated on 400 acres, the Park is listed in the National Register of Historic Places and includes Fort Cabun, Fort Wade, the Grand Gulf Cemetery, a museum, campgrounds, picnic areas, hiking trails, an observation tower and restored buildings.

- Near Tupelo is Brice's Cross Roads, where every other year a reenactment of the famous battle is created. Venture into the city limits to visit the Tupelo National Battlefield.
- In Alabama, at the Edith Culver Memorial Museum, visit the LaGrange College Site and view Civil War relics and Pope's Tavern.
- Visit where the "Gettysburg of the West" unfolded at Carter Farm in Franklin, TN.
- Bring along a copy of Robert Hick's best seller, "The Widow of the South," and take the walking tour of the Carnton Plantation in Franklin which was featured in its pages.

McGavock Confederate Cemetery, Carnton Plantation, Franklin, TN

ROMANCE

For Pulitzer-prize winning novelist Eudora Welty, the Natchez Trace inspired the dramatic tale of the Robert Bridegroom, a handsome highwayman who disguised his face with berry juice and stole his maiden as he galloped past on horseback, sweeping her off her feet in a heart-pounding ride to his lair.

While Welty's story was a fairy tale, it should be noted that the romance of the Natchez Trace is not mere fiction, it is also historic fact. Along the Trace, love blooms as easily as the trees and wildflowers lining its route. Meander along this byway as your own love for the Trace blossoms.

Downtown Franklin, TN

- Share a blanket under the stars at one of the many campgrounds (like President Andrew Jackson did on his honeymoon)...or stay indoors at one of the numerous bed and breakfast establishments or hotels.
- Explore the Trace and her numerous National Scenic Trails, swamps, waterfalls and wildlife.
- Enjoy sumptuous dining.
- Stroll through numerous shopping venues, charming town squares and historic districts.

MS Craft Center, Ridgeland, MS

- Steal a kiss and view the mansions on a nighttime carriage ride through antebellum Natchez, MS.
- Explore Port Gibson's splendid Ruins of Windsor.
- See quaint shops and emporiums on the brick streets of Old Town in Clinton; then take in a show by the town's theatre group, the Brick Street Players (named from its streets).
- Sail into the sunset on Ridgeland's Ross Barnett Reservoir or Tishomingo's Pickwick Lake.
- Share an intimate walk at Cypress Swamp (mile marker 122).
- Near Franklin, TN be amazed as you cross over an actual bridge linking small town charm and the bright lights of Nashville. This remarkably innovative double arch bridge, an architectural and engineering landmark, is the only one of its kind in the world.
- Spend time together browsing through Ridgeland's Mississippi Craft Center or Nashville's Frist Center for Visual Arts.

OUTDOOR ADVENTURES

Natural excitement abounds with 65 miles of National Scenic Trail, a pathway perfect for motorcycling, RVing and bicycling, 157 types of birds, waterways, 12 state parks and numerous golf courses adjacent to its path.

Swimming, boating, fishing, sailing—the water is wonderful along the Parkway, at the 33,000-acre Ross Barnett Reservoir in Ridgeland, MS; at the Jamie Whitten Lock and Dam at the Tenn-Tom Waterway near Tishomingo, MS; in AL at Colbert Ferry, and behemoth Pickwick Lake and upriver on Wilson Lake. Hunting, including bow-hunting for the hardy, is excellent in the 38,000-acre Freedom Hills State Wildlife Management Area, in Colbert County, AL.

It's great to take a drive along the Natchez Trace, and that includes a drive down any of the fairways of the many golf courses along the Natchez Trace, including two featured on Alabama's famed Robert Trent Jones Trail. The Parkway is a great place to play, no matter what the sport.

Cooper Falls, Tishomingo State Park, MS

Trace Picnic

- Camp in over 25 campgrounds or adjacent community accommodations.
- Explore 12 adjacent state parks.
- Go bird watching.
- Hike 1–65 miles of National Scenic Trail.
- Bike the path that has been recognized as one of America's Top 10 Biking Roads.

Spring Park, Tusculmbia, AL

Hiking, Jeff Busby Trail, MS

- Hug miles of gentle curves with gorgeous vistas around every bend as you cruise.
- Bring your horse, and ride the trails.
- See the home of approximately 2,100 different types of plants and 364 different types of wildlife.
- Experience nature in an intimate setting on 33 acres of preserved habitat at Clinton's Community Nature Center.
- Water ski, fish, play, swim and ride on any of our numerous waterways or reservoirs such as the Ross Barnett Reservoir in Ridgeland or the Tenn-Tom Waterway in Tishomingo County.
- Trek through the dramatic sandstone cliffs at Bear Creek Canyon in Tishomingo State Park.

NATURE

If you wanted to paint a picture of the Parkway outdoors, you might also use magic—like the disappearing act of the “Sunken Trace,” a portion of the Old Trace pounded so deep by eons of human and animal traffic that riders on horseback could (and did) disappear from view.

Cypress Swamp, MS

Or you might choose mystery—like the curious enchantment of Cypress Swamp, where those knobby cypress knees share dark waters with reclusive alligators, which may be spied upon by diligent detectives from the elevated boardwalk above. Or, maybe you prefer the majesty of endless acres of brilliant blue, from Ross Barnett Reservoir in Ridgeland, MS to Colbert’s Ferry to Pickwick Lake in AL, where blue herons skim the surface and bald eagles sail the deep blue canopy overhead.

Magical, mysterious, majestic. However you envision the outdoor beauty of the Natchez Trace Parkway, be sure you picture a spectacular view around every bend and a place so unspoiled you can easily feel the centuries slip away, along with everyday cares and troubles. The natural world of the Natchez Trace is truly picture perfect.

Did you know?

- 157 types of birds (and still counting), from jewel-toned hummingbirds to lumbering flocks of wild turkey to graceful, long-limbed blue heron, call the Parkway home. The Parkway is a birder’s delight.
- 2,202 types of plant species, including hardwoods, conifers, old growth and new, from lacy spring dogwood blooms to knobby cypress knees breaking black swamp water to the blaze of fall colors on towering maples and oaks are on the Trace.
- 205 mammals, herptiles and fish species, including deer, fox, armadillo, coyote and eight species federally listed as threatened or endangered can be found here. Altogether creating a thriving ecosystem protected from commercial encroachment.
- 15 nature trails wait for your enjoyment.
- 64 miles of national scenic trails and 28 different hiking and self-guided trails, totaling 100 miles, make up this hiking heaven.

Deer

To get the most out of your Parkway explorations, we suggest you bring binoculars and hiking boots. (And there’s even one section of the Trace where you can bring your horse!)

And yes, you’ll want to have a camera to capture all that perfection to go with lasting memories.

CULTURE & HERITAGE

The Natchez Trace connects great Americans with great American culture, from W.C Handy, Father of the Blues, Elvis Presley and Helen Keller to the Grand Ole Opry, American arts and museums galore.

- Museums line the Trace from Natchez to Nashville, such as the Tupelo Automobile Museum or the Kosciusko Visitors Center and Museum, where you can learn more about the Polish general who became a hero in the American Revolutionary War, General Tadeusz Kosciuszko.
- The Clinton Visitors Center holds monthly toe-tapping Jam Sessions.
- Ridgeland’s Mississippi Craft Center showcases the work of some of the state’s most talented artists in its 20,000 square foot facility complete with demonstrations and items to purchase.
- See the birthplace of Oprah Winfrey in Kosciusko.
- Kosciusko also features the beautifully stained glass windows of Mary Ricks Thornton Cultural Center.
- Discover how early American life used to be in the Natchez Trace Historic District of French Camp Academy. Walk through the 19th-century-style farmhouse to see how a Revolutionary War soldier lived, how handmade quilts are stitched and watch sorghum being made every Saturday in October.

Church in Kosciusko, Oprah Winfrey Birthplace, MS

- Elvis Presley was born in Tupelo, and there you can see his birthplace and museum and take a driving tour of his early years.
- Visit the Tishomingo Country Archives and History Museum to see the 1940’s and 50’s “Marriage Capital of the South.”
- The father of the blues, W.C. Handy, was born in Florence—see his birthplace.
- Ivy Green, the birthplace of Helen Keller, is in Tuscumbia.
- In the Hohenwald, TN, see the grave of early American explorer Meriwether Lewis who met his mysterious death on this spot in 1809. It was Lewis, along with his partner William Clark, who first documented vast areas of the Louisiana Purchase. At the gravesite find a campsite and picnic area with self-guided walking trails and restrooms.
- Leiper’s Fork is the only historic village on the Tennessee portion of the Natchez Trace Parkway and offers the quaintness of the past and the convenience of the present. If you listen carefully on any Saturday night, you’ll hear the faint ring of a banjo and a fiddle echoing throughout the hills and hollows around Leiper’s Fork.
- The Grand Ole Opry, the Musicians Hall of Fame and Museum and the Music City Walk of Fame on the Music Mile is in Nashville.
- Nashville, known as the “Athens of the South” holds the Frist Center for the Visual Arts, the beauty of the Cheekwood Botanical Gardens and Gallery and the Parthenon reproduction.

Discovery

The Parkway's small communities put big smiles on visitor faces. You'll see why.

In a commercialized, homogenized world, it isn't only the Parkway's beautiful billboard free vistas that come as a welcome relief—the charming, friendly communities along the Parkway are also a real breath of fresh air. These small communities greet you with the kind of hospitality you dream of, in settings that offer a range of delightful attractions and activities both entertaining and enlightening.

The Parkway's communities are the soul of hospitality, in the heart of America's history, where national leaders and icons got their start and made their mark. Today, you can experience a slice of life as delectable as the jellies and jams of small vineyards, as inspiring as the pump where Annie Sullivan helped Helen Keller escape her prison and as unforgettable as the Windsor Ruins.

Best of all, these treasures are scattered all along the Parkway, ready for you to dive in and come up richer for the experience.

You're following in the footsteps of the people who first explored and settled Mississippi:

There's no other place that embodies the heart and soul of the true South in all its rich and varied expressions: You're following the path of giants that established the nation's first publicly supported college for women in Columbus; performed the world's first heart and lung transplant at University of Mississippi Medical Center in Jackson; tested rockets for NASA's Space Shuttle engines at the John C. Stennis Space Center in Hancock County. You're rumbling along in search of that crossroad where a legend was born: Robert Johnson, Elvis Presley, blues great B. B. King, the father of country music, Jimmie Rogers. Even the teddy bear got its start in Mississippi, after Theodore Roosevelt embarked on what became a famous bear hunt in the Mississippi Delta.

You're in the South. And it feels true. Abraham Lincoln knew the key to the Civil War was Vicksburg, but later, Coca Cola was first bottled there, too. One could almost believe the state has figured out a way to bottle literary genius: Considering the talent from William Faulkner to Eudora Welty to Tennessee Williams (and that's just the beginning) it's tempting to ask if it's something in the water!

WATER AND A WEALTH OF RECREATIONAL FUN: Speaking of water, Mississippi is a paradise of rich and real delights, too, from the Gulf Coast to the Mississippi River to the man-made wonder of the Ross Barnett Reservoir and the Tenn-Tom Waterway. Not surprisingly, beautiful landscapes abound in Mississippi, with a multitude of ways to enjoy them, from camping under the stars to hiking, hunting, golfing and more. Naturally, there's music, and plenty of mouth-watering cuisine, perhaps most importantly, historic hospitality! Say it out loud. Mississippi. It rings true.

The Natchez Trace brings some of the best of Mississippi to you—battlefields to blues to the birthplace of the king of rock and roll, water sports to waterfalls, antebellum mansions to urban arts. Mississippi, turn the page, take a look and find your True South.

Alabama

You probably didn't know that the first Mardi Gras was held in Mobile, Alabama, not in New Orleans. But then Mobile's Mardi Gras is just the tip of the parade of Alabama firsts. Whether it's building the Saturn rockets that powered America's race to the moon at what is now the U.S. Space and Rocket Center in Huntsville, or whether it's hurtling NASCAR entrants around the track at the Talladega Superspeedway, Alabama gets there fast and first. That includes Alabama superstars Jesse Owens, Hank Aaron and Joe Louis.

VISION, VALUES: One reason Alabama gets there first is that people in this state have the courage to take the hard road and the vision to see what's at the end of it. A young Montgomery minister named Martin Luther King, Jr. saw a day when people would be judged "not by the color of their skin," and together with Alabama civil rights pioneers like Rosa Parks, he began a movement that would change America. The Tuskegee Institute would also blaze a trail, in the classroom under the direction of George Washington Carver and in the sky, with the wings of the famed Tuskegee airmen.

Alabama doesn't take a backseat in the arts, either, as the lifelong home of To Kill A Mockingbird author Harper Lee (who grew up next door to Truman Capote) and as the birthplace of musical greats ranging from W.C. Handy to Nat King Cole to Hank Williams.

ALABAMA COOKS: Williams sang "Hey, good lookin', whatcha got cookin'?" And when it comes to Alabama attractions, the answer is a deliciously full menu of recreation, culture and landscapes of unsurpassed beauty, everything from bird watching trails to sandy white beaches and mountains to museums.

Along the Natchez Trace, you'll encounter plenty of those attractions and plenty of Alabama visionaries at the birthplaces of Helen Keller and W. C. Handy, at the Frank Lloyd Wright designed Rosenbaum House, at the Alabama Music Hall of Fame and at FAME Recording Studio where the "Muscle Shoals Sound" burst onto the national scene. Try a swing down the Robert Trent Jones golf trail, or take a steam at the Marriott Shoals Hotel & Spa.

The launch of your great adventure is just ahead.

Tennessee

Three-part harmonies. A chorus of cheers.

If Tennessee were a song, it would need at least three verses:

One for West Tennessee, one for Middle Tennessee and one for East Tennessee. Call it the Tennessee three-step, the way distinctly different grand regions join together in vibrant harmony in a state that helped launch country music with the Bristol Sessions and usher in the age of soul at Stax Records in Memphis. For every interest, there's always something to cheer, in the state of Parton, Pigeon Forge and Peabody ducks; of B.B., the Blue Bird and Knoxville's Blueplate Special.

STAGING SOMETHING SPECIAL: Obviously, music is a common refrain, from the clubs of Beale Street to Nashville's Grand Ole Opry stage to the fields of Bonnaroo, America's number one music festival. Elvis made his first record at Sun Studios in Memphis, the Carter family made theirs in Bristol, and today, across the state and spectrum of styles, new talent is cropping up everywhere you look and listen.

IN TENNESSEE, THERE'S ALWAYS MORE TO SAVOR: tall tales at Jonesborough's National Storytelling Festival, tall orders at Memphis In May's World Championship Barbecue Cooking Contest, animal magnetism at Chattanooga's Tennessee Aquarium and small town charms in Hohenwald and Collinwood.

LIONS, BEARS AND BATTLEFIELDS: Tennessee is home to Davy Crockett, The National Civil Rights Museum and three U.S. presidents—Andrew Jackson, Andrew Johnson and James K. Polk. Today you can visit their homes, as well as four different

Civil War battlefields, strung from Shiloh to Chickamauga. Tennessee is all over the board when it comes to topography and recreation, too: snow board at Ober Gatlinburg, water ski at Pickwick or Paris, raft the white water of the Ocoee and hang glide off Lookout Mountain. Take the Bear Trace trail of Nicklaus-designed golf courses or see real bears in Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Hike, camp or take a bike ride in one of Tennessee's 53 award-winning state parks.

And the best way to get started is with the showstoppers on the Natchez Trace. The dramatic Civil War history at Franklin's Carnton Plantation and the McGavock Confederate Cemetery inspired a New York Times best seller, The Widow of the South. You'll be inspired, too.

Better hurry and get started.
